Republican Nominations

FOR PRESIDENT,

ULYSSES S. GRANT. FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

SCHUYLER COLFAX.

VERMONT.

For Electors at Large-George W. Grandey, of Vergennes; H. Fatrianus, of St. Johnsbury. For Elector - Third District - GEORGE WILL-KINS, of Stowe.

The Result.

The returns from the Vermont Election will satisfy the most ardent Republican in the Geeen Mountain State, and and Vermonters are not alone in their | Bri rejoicings. Maine responds to Vermont in her election next week and Portland acknowledges our triumph in increased majorities, with 100 guns. The rejoicings all around us are heartfelt, and if we have been at all instrumental in producing the result we are satisfied. The greatest victory in the State has been obtained in this County, and we bow in silent submission to the will of the people as expressed. We know that many of our personal and political friends do not fully appreciate the local verdict yet, but the time is not far distant, in our opinion, when they will agree with us fully, that the verdict in all its bearings, is for the good of the country, Individuals may have been disappointed in their expectations, but we have not been, "truth will ever come uppermost and justice will prevail."

Let our sister States, soon to follow in their local elections, take courage and example from what they have seen in Vermont and roll up their heavy majorities for "freedom and unity." Those who for a moment before doubted the loyalty, steadfastness and life of the Republicans here, have had their doubts dispelled altogether. Visitors from abroad in Vermont, and correspondents of democratic newspapers during the past season, have thought there was no vitality in republicanism here, but their minds have been disabused. Our people are a quiet industrious peo; le without ostentation or idle show, but perform their duty well when their virdict is taken at polls. extended returns until some thing accurate could be obtained, and to-da; we have to announce very full and increased majorities from the whole State. Last year the republican majority in the State was 20,184, which has been increased to about 27,000 this year. Every body is rejoicing around us, and the following from the New York Trihune will give an idea of the situation.

THANKS TO VERMONT .- There was never, of course, any doubt that Ver-mont would cast her vote for Grant and Colfax by a very large majority; and yet her State Election just held was regarded with deep, general, and rational interest. The barometer incites no storms and averts none; but it is nevertheless watched intently by those whose fortunes are staked on the calm or tempest of the next day or two. The set of the popular current may be indi-cated as clearly, decisively, by the vote of a certain as by that of a doubtful State, Nobody expected Kentuck to vote otherwise in 1868 than as she did in 1864; yet the fact that her Democratic vote and majority were last month swelled by the full strength of her returned rebel soldiery operated as a sig-nal encouragement and aid to the parti-sans of Seymour and Blair throughout the Union. And so the splendid ma-jority just rolled up by Vermont is worth much more to the Republican cause ihan the five electoral votes which she is certain to cast for Grant and Colfax. Not that it settles the question as to Vermont-there was no such question to settle-but that it shows, beyond cavil, that those who supported Lincoln's re-election are rallying with unbroken ranks to elect Grant and Colfax. There are very few individual defections overbalanced by conversions to the Republi-can side; but the very few deserters and stragglers affect neither the solidity nor the momentum of the mighty column that is moving to reiterate and confirm the past triumphs of Freedom and the Union over Rebellion at the South and sympethising disloyalty at the North. Such is the moral of the Vermont Election.

The scattered and peeled champions of the lost cause among the Green Mountains have for months insisted that they I were receiving vast accessions to their ranks in sympathy with the "greal reaction" boasted of in other States. They had young John Quiney Adams at their capital last winter, to receive a grand ovation from those who inherited a belief that his grandfather achieved the Presidence by a shameful Largain, and that his more illustrious great-grand-father was a monarchist, a British tool, and an implacable foe of popular rights. They boasted then of their great gains from the Republican ranks, and the vast increase on their former votes that would be shown at the next election. They deceived their allies outside of their own limits; but they did not de-ceive nor mislead the yeomanry of Ver-

To that yeomanry, we tender the fervent gratitude of at least two-thirds of the American-born voters of the United States. They have struck a gallant and timely blow, for which we all fervently Randolph, J B Mead thank them. They have shown that we Strafford, C B Dow have but to beat the long roll and the men who saved the country from blood-thirsty treason will save it from those who, throughout our long agony, constantly predicted the triumph of that treason, and did their best to falfill their own doleful prophecies. They have shown that, of the half-million voters throughout the country who are hardest and last to be brought to the polls, at least four hundred thousand will vote for Grant and Colfax if they can only be induced to vote at all. They have done this by effort—for the Vermouters are widely scattered on their farms and in the glens of their mountains, and must often travel miles to reach the polls, which the indolent excuse themselves from doing, on the plea that it is no use—the majority will be large enough without them. Honor and praise, cheers and blessings, for the stout-harted, free-souled yeomanry of unflinching Ver-

The record for yesterday was: Money unchanged at 3 and 4 per cent., with large blocks offered at the close at 3 per cent, without takers.

Acknowledged Champions!

The bulls and bears of Wall Street main under treatment. have more consideration for each other's corns, and things are in a milder state 93 down there. State and railway bonds are now dull and steady.

Luckily, we can state that there is more offering in freights, and the rates 4 are better, though irregular. It is a note-72 worthy fact that the exportation of hay 34 still continues.

is still talked of a great deal. You are of course posted in regard to the recent 0 developments. Noonday prayer-meetings are now held in his former danceo house. As to politics, there is veritably no end. We are glad, this morning, that we feel little bound to go through all 8 the doings and sayings. Now you have 15 our record. By it you will see that both the great parties are working all the time. Banners, and drums, and processions, and stump speeches are all mixed up. According to the latter, both Grant and Seymour have a mighty good chance of election. Vermont makes a great sensation this morning. The 45 Democratic State Convention ditto. The Tribune pronounces Jean Davenport Lauder, who is now playing at the Broadway Theatre, the most eminent 14 actress at present on the American stage. This is high praise, especially as coming from so able a critic as Mr. Wm. Winter, than whom there are few better, more skilful, more candid, dramatic writers in the whole country. Lotta as the "Fire-Fly," continues to light up the stage at Wallack's. "Humpty Dumpty" still at the Olympic. This very sucbessful pantomime is now in its 26th week. You of course read of the opening of Wood's Museum and Metropolitan Theatre, and the inaugural address by the renowned P. T. Barnum.

The speech was worthy of the occasion, and of the great Barnum. It had, as a matter of course, something of the mounard and wooly-horse flavor. "Foul Play," truiy a sensation drama, if we count in all the shootings, &c., on account of the rivalries and arrests, is on at the New York Theatre. One roughly in the Freight Bepot, St. Albans, Vt.

This Mill was built by Holmes & Blanchard, of Boston, of the best French Burr, is complete in every respect, and is capable of grinding twenty live bushels per hoar. Being dependent on acither wind or floods for power, we can do all work of this kind without hindrance to our customers. We shall be prepared to furnish corn in the kernel, or ground, and at all times fresh and as cheap as elsewhere. We are also ready to receive orders for opening of Wood's Museum and Metrocount in all the shootings, &c., on ac-count of the rivalries and arrests, is on at the New York Theatre.
